Category:Universiti Teknologi Malaysia Category:2015 establishments in Malaysia Category:Educational institutions established in 2015“Tucked in a grove of pines is a small parish cemetery that shares its graveyard with the historic Parish church, St Mary’s, built in 1728. This cemetery is an arboretum of buried trees and shrubs, all of which once grew on the site.” During the American Civil War, the Union Army constructed a tent city at the site, which they named “Camp Harmony.” In 1970, Camden County opened the woodland as a park, renamed Lillie Mae’s West in honor of local employee and volunteer Lillie Mae (McLeroy) Parker, who did her part to keep the park alive. Since that time, the park has been owned by the City of Camden and operated by the Parks and Recreation Department. “Lillie Mae’s West is home to tens of thousands of beautiful trees and shrubs, many of them over one hundred years old. They have weathered multiple hurricanes and blizzards. They have become family and friends to man, nature, and families.” West Lillie Cemetery is a beautiful place to visit. It’s also a terrific place to visit while living, thanks to the arboretum’s huge variety of native and non-native trees and shrubs. We’ve taken the cemetery’s iconic imagery and merged it with some of this beautiful park’s outstanding plantings. You can see more at GRAPHICS by Bryce Farbar.
